Dear Readers:

May is Older Americans Month, a perfect opportunity to show appreciation for the older adults in our area. Since 1963, communities across the nation have joined in the annual commemoration of Older Americans Month – a proud tradition that shows our nation’s commitment to celebrating the contributions and achievements of older Americans.

The theme for Older Americans Month 2012 – Never Too Old to Play! – puts a spotlight on the important role older adults play in sharing their experience, wisdom, and understanding, and passing on that knowledge to other generations in a variety of significant ways. The Minnesota River Area Agency on Aging®, Inc. (MNRAAA) recognizes the value that older adults continue to bring to our communities through spirited participation in social and faith groups, service organizations, and other activities.

As significant numbers of baby-boomers reach retirement age, many communities have increased their efforts to provide meaningful opportunities for older adults – many of whom remain physically and socially active through their 80s and beyond. Current trends show that people over age 60 account for an ever-growing percentage of participants in community service positions, faith-based organizations and online social networking, as well as arts and recreational groups.

Lifelong participation in social, creative, and physical activities has proven health benefits, including retaining mobility, muscle mass, and cognitive abilities. But older adults are not the only ones who benefit from their engagement in community life. Studies show their interactions with family, friends, and neighbors across generations enrich the lives of everyone involved. Young people who have significant relationships with a grandparent or elder report that these relationships helped shape their values, goals, and life choices and gave them a sense of identity and roots.

While MNRAAA provides services, support, and resources to older Americans year-round, Older Americans Month 2012 is a great opportunity to show special appreciation for the older adults in our twenty-seven county service area. We have numerous reasons to celebrate them and we encourage each of you to join us in the national celebration of Older Americans Month 2012!

In celebration,

Caregiver Respite: Enjoy a Guilt-free Time-out

Why is it that the words “respite” and “guilt” seem to go hand in hand? Why do caregivers feel they are somehow failing their loved one by admitting that they need help, need time to recharge their batteries, or just need time to play a bit? Perhaps because so many still hold on to the myth that says the caregiver has to be all things to all people.

The truth is that no matter how hard we try, we are not a super-duper caregiver extraordinaire. We are human with all the same needs and feelings as every other person in our lives. And, just like everyone else we need to take time to smell the roses.

Respite care provides caregivers the opportunity to:

▪ Take a vacation
▪ Have a weekend getaway
▪ Attend to home or work responsibilities that have been building up
▪ Recharge their energy to be better prepared to provide the attention and patience required on a daily basis

Think about these principals to ensure your guilt-free respite:

▪ I am entitled to take care of myself
▪ I am worthy of a break
▪ I am showing my commitment to my caregiver role when I take steps like respite care to ensure that continued quality care is delivered to my loved one
▪ It is OK to relax and enjoy other aspects of my life
▪ It is OK to take a break and recharge my energies
▪ It is OK to maintain as much normalcy in my life as possible
▪ It is OK to continue to dream
▪ If roles were reversed, there is no question I would want my loved one to have respite
▪ It is right and responsible of me to also have respite

Celebration of the 40th Anniversary of the Older Americans Act Nutrition Program

As part of National Nutrition Month, the Administration on Aging (AoA) joins the national aging services network in celebrating the 40th anniversary of the Older Americans Act (OAA) Nutrition Program. In communities across the country, older adults join friends at a congregate site to enjoy well balanced meals, while homebound seniors are able to receive a meal delivered to their home.

Millions of older adults suffer from hunger, malnutrition, and food insecurity. For many, the meal they receive from the OAA Nutrition Program is their only meal of the day. Hunger does not discriminate; it targets individuals of all racial and ethnic backgrounds, and socio-economic levels. In 2010, the United States Department of Agriculture found that about 4.6 million older adults experienced some form of food insecurity. Also in 2010, an AoA survey of program participants found that twelve percent of home delivered meals recipients and six percent of congregate meal participants had to choose between buying food and paying for their rent or utilities.

Since the program’s implementation in 1972, eight billion meals have been served to older Americans, helping them to eat more healthfully and allowing them to remain active in their homes and communities. The OAA Nutrition Program provides the opportunity for individuals to socialize with their friends, volunteer to help others and check on their neighbors to see if they are okay.
